

International School of London

International School of London SEN Information Report September 2018 to July 2019

ISL London takes account of the context both national and curricular within which it exists in supporting students who are identified as requiring additional learning support.

The school will abide by the Independent Schools Standards (England), the Equality Act 2010 and any other relevant statute or guidance in respect of its learning support practice and policy.

While not statutorily required to implement the SEND Code of Practice, the school will monitor best practice exemplars in England to inform its procedures.

The school will also abide by any relevant requirements and practices as set out by the International Baccalaureate - which authorises the school to run IB programmes - and standards of the Council of International Schools by whom the school is accredited.

Identifying Children's additional needs

How will the school know if my child needs additional help and how will the school share information with me?

The identification of children's SEN (Special Educational Needs) occurs prior to students beginning at International School of London. The Admissions Department gathers information from the students' previous Primary or Secondary School and liaises with teachers and SEN staff, this enables data and historical information to be collected. The information gathered is used to inform both teaching classes and tutor rooms. If possible, students visit the International School of London on a number of occasions to enable them to feel known, begin to develop positive professional relationships with staff and become better acquainted with their peer group. Parent and pupil referrals are also accepted for further evaluation by the Learning Support Team.

In addition to previous test results being received by the International School of London, all students starting at the school are given an English Placement Test by the Head of Language Acquisition to ascertain the student's level of English and to see if further support may be beneficial. Students are also given a test in their Mother Tongue, The Language Proficiency Assessment (LPA), by their Mother Tongue Teachers, this is overseen by the Mother Tongue Leader. The purpose of the LPA is for Mother Tongue Teachers to establish which language is a student's strongest language as students may have multiple languages.

Assessment and monitoring occurs continuously during a student's attendance at the International School of London. Class Teacher meetings or Tutor meetings, Parent and Teacher Meetings, Careers Advice and Advice on Higher Education Options meetings are points in time where parents are invited to meet teachers and staff at International School of London. Moreover IEP (Individual Education Plans) or Pathway Plan reviews are organised by Learning Support Staff and the Special Educational Needs Coordinator (SENCO).

If students are identified as requiring additional support, then staff are informed of the individual needs of each student.

Annually we will assess Literacy and Numeracy levels using standardised tools. We then meet once a year to evaluate the progress and set targets as needed. Student learning is assessed on a regular basis. If students are not making the expected levels of progress, a plan that identifies the desired outcome is put into place and support is identified. The plan is implemented by all teaching staff, reviewed and then further clarified to ensure that the student makes the expected level of progress. To meet the individual needs of students, subject teachers work closely with the Learning Support Team.

Measuring children's progress

How will the school know how well my child is doing and how will they inform me about this?

The progress of all students at the International School of London is tracked across the curriculum. Students are given targets in all subjects and students not making the expected levels of progress are seen by the Class Teachers, Subject Teachers, Learning Support Staff, Heads of Department, Head of Primary, MYP Coordinator, Head of Student Support, Head of Pastoral or for parents of students in Grades 11 and 12 completing the Diploma Programme, Mr Morris, Deputy Principal Diploma College/ IBDP Coordinator. This could lead to meetings with parents. Referrals are made to external agencies as required.

Parent and Teacher Meetings are held during the year to allow parents to meet subject teachers and discuss their child's progress.

Student reports are also sent home to further inform parents and carers about their child's progress.

The graduated approach of Assess, Plan, Do and Review is used, IEP or Pathway Plan reviews, observations and parent meetings. The progress of students with SEND is monitored and evaluated by the Learning Support Team, SENCO and Mrs Hakim (Head of Student Support at ISL London). Parents are invited in at least once each term to discuss progress and to evaluate existing provision, and students also participate in meetings as appropriate. Some parents prefer to meet initially and then discuss via telephone and or email.

Annually we will assess Literacy and Numeracy levels using standardised tools. The Learning Support Team then meet once a year to evaluate the progress of students and to set targets as needed. Learning Support Staff participate in meetings, contact parents on a regular basis and encourage students to fulfil their aims, ambitions and aspirations.

Support and Training for school staff

Have any staff received specialist training in SEND?

- ❖ The SENCO is completing specialist courses in SEN at Masters Level.
- ❖ One SEN Teacher has completed a specialist course in SEN at Masters Level.
- ❖ One SEN Teacher has completed a Masters in Educational Psychology.
- ❖ Learning Support staff have completed Masters level qualification, Specialist Courses in SEN and attended workshops from accredited Higher Education Institutions. This has included Speech and Language, Dyslexia courses and First Aid training.
- ❖ Specialist expertise is engaged from external services such as Educational Psychologist, Specialist Teachers, Speech and Language Therapists, Occupational Therapists and Child and Adolescence Mental Health Services.

- ❖ High visibility paint
- ❖ Wide corridors that are user friendly for students
- ❖ Disabled toilet
- ❖ SEN room and office. Other classrooms in the school are also used for lessons.
- ❖ Medical room

Inclusion

How will the school ensure that my child will be included in all activities at school, after school clubs and on school trips?

Students with SEND are encouraged to participate in all school activities. Teachers or support staff can accompany students on schools trips where additional support is required. Risk assessments that include all children are routinely undertaken at the International School of London.

How will young people with SEN be consulted about and involving them in their education?

Personal interviews are completed with students to enable their views to be sought and clearly communicated. The role of the student voice is important as per the Legal Duties documents, furthermore the student council is important in shaping policy and practice at ISL. Student reviews are held on a regular basis and students' wishes are ISL London implements an Attendance policy, Anti bullying policy that is supported by members of staff, Behaviour and Drugs policy that is further supported by the Counsellor.

Transition

How will the school support my child to change classes and/or move on when they reach the appropriate stages?

Full and careful consideration is given to all transition planning as students go through transitions all the time in school, whether it is a change of classroom, teacher or a move to a different school or college.

Transitions may be at the start of a student's secondary school career, moving into further education, training or moving schools. There are transition days for students from Grade 5 going into Grade 6. Students are also given support when they move up a Grade.

Transition options are explained to parents and carers and they have the opportunity to visit the International School of London DP College or other colleges before making a decision and expressing a preference. Teachers and SEN staff pay particular attention to preparing students with SEN for transfer to another school, addressing both the learning and the wellbeing concerns that may arise. Parents are invited to attend IEP or Pathway Plan reviews to discuss their child's individual needs and often additional school visits for students are planned. Where necessary, students are given visual timetables by learning support staff to allow students to become familiar with the day to day routines in school. Students receive advice and support on making their optional choices. In Grade 10 further transition planning takes place to support young people continuing onto the IB Diploma programme or moving on. Students receive advice on Grade 11 choices and how choices relate to higher education and career opportunities. This may involve visits to colleges or universities or further input from careers specialists.

Support and training for Parents and Carers

What support and training within the school is available to parents and carers?

Throughout the academic year, workshops, meetings and information sessions are held to inform parents of how they can support their child and how The International School of London will implement strategies to ensure that their child meets their full potential. Parents are invited into International School of London regularly to discuss the best strategies to support their child. Any SEN information that the school receives from external professionals is shared with parents. Parents commissioning private assessments from external professionals are expected to share information to ensure that staff at International School of London can implement recommendations and strategies to enable students to fulfil their aims, ambitions and aspirations.
